Senate. At 12 Meridian, the members elect of the Senate assembled in the College Chapel. On motion of Hon. G. W Williams, Senator elect from York, the Hon. F. J. Moses, Senator elect from Sumter, was called to the Chair, and the ordinance providing for the meeting of the Legislature was read. The Election Districts were called, and a quorum being presented, the Sanate proceeded to a ballot for President of the Senate, to serve until the qualification of the Lieutenant Governor elect. The election was conducted vina voce. pursuant to the recent amendment of the Constitution, and Hon. F. J. Moses was declared duly elected, whereupon the President addressed the senate as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE : Accept my acknowledgements of the honor, you have just conferred upon me. I attribute your choice more the fact of my long service on this floor than to any fitness which I have for the place. his body, however, constituted of Carolina gentlemen, the course of debate; even on exciting questions, has always been distinguished by such politeness and court sy, that there is sel-dim an occasion for the interposition of the T. On many a fearful battle-field, Southern valor and gallantry. Iv exhibited, and that same spirit of self-dependence, in a new and changed field of operation, can supply the necessary energy and industry to conquer all obstacles, and make us once more a happy and prosperous people.

You have each of you, assumed, under oath, the obligation "to protect, preserve and defend" as well the Constitution of the United States as of that of the State of South Carolina: Your the character of our people, will doubt that you will readily and cheerfully render to the General Government of your country all that dury, patriotism and a sense of right will demand. I full well know that you will contribute all your efforts and ability to build up for us a republic which will be the admiration of the world, and will constitute us one great and undivided people. Let a recollection of the past be buried, and with encouraging hopes of the future, procoed in the good work which we this day begin. Again thanking you for the honor you have conferred upon me, I am ready to proceed with the duties of the Chair.

Wm. E. Martin, Esq., was elected Clerk, A. D. Gaillard, Messenger, and DuBose Eggleston, Door keeper. Several unsuccessful ballots were held for Reading Clerk, when the election was postponed until tomorrow.

A committee was appointed to inform the Gov-ernor that the Senate had organized, and was ready to receive any communication from him.

Mr. James P. Lesesne was elected Reading

Clerk, and the oath was administered to him. Mr. Manning offered a resolution, which was agreed to, that the Clerk of the Senate shall proceed under the direction of the President pro tem, to determine by lot which of the Senators cedly better than swearing, a very filthy and shall fill the long term of office and short, as has been the custom heretofore.

"The good time" come.

As next Monday will be sales-day, and a large number of our citizens will come to town, we think that occasion a very appropriate one to try, if not altogether gone, is to exist in a new pay as a visit. We give a cordial and general shape, and we enter as an experiment, if de- invitation to all, to everybody, in the hope that pay us a visit. We give a cordial and general we may interest them and advantage ourselves. Some few there are, and only a few we are hapsubjected to the most trying test, has been proud-py to say, who are indebted to us, and only so by their positive promise to pay up, about this time-after crop gathering. We look for them now. The promise has but slipped their memory, it could not, like the good house-wife's "piecrust" have been "made but to be broken." We are satisfied then that a gentle hint is all suffigient, and that the few who are on the shady side, honor once pledged, who that knows anything of | will come out from the dark, pay up and bask in the sunshine of our countenance. Others again, will remember that the period for which they subscribed is expiring, and a few are o-u-t, and that if they wish to continue on our books, they must renew in time. And no better time than the present can present itself, either for renewing, or commencing a subscription. The proceedings of the Legislature, now in session, will be full of interest, and every one should know what is going on in that body. To be posted in this, it is only necessary to secure a paid right to the Herald, for three or six months as the case may be. Look to it in time. Subscriptions will be received in almost any kind of truck, in gurrency or in specie; so there need be no excuse for borrowing your neighbors paper, or remaining in ignorance altogether. .

We don't like it.

But have to grin and bear it, sometimes however we are tempted to say "lightning rods," "pitch-forks," or something else, which is decingly practice by the way. That any one can be small enough, mean enough, and ugly enough to steal, not money, but a paper, another man's, who has paid for and is anxiously looking for it is most surprising, positively shocking. Why term of two years; Beaufort, Berkely, Chester, bless your ugly pictures, we print every week from one to two hundred copies of the Herald over and above the regular list, just to meet and remedy this little pilfering, to save our regular honest subscribers, and we earnestly beg you to send in your names, or call that we may supply the irregular demand in a legitimate ways Call up, dont be bashfur or backward, it is better this way than the other. At every office on our list there is always more or less complant of this kind. .It cannot surely be the fault of post masters, for in almost every case we send them a free paper. Oh.no, it is he who will not pay for one of his own, who thinks its that much saved if he can berrow his neighbor's paper; its not stealing, far from it. We sincerely commisserate that man's condition who cannot take and pay for a paper and there are so manywe are sorry, very, and will do all for them that is in our power. Call therefore and give in your names. The man who regularly reads another man's paper free, either by stealing or by borrowing cannot enjoy the news, should be kicked Hon. A. P. NEGRO TESTIMONY .- In a case where several negroes were charged with gambling, one of the party was called upon to testify what he knew of the matter. There were five others beside himself, and he swore that four of the five were guilty, but pointing to his friend said he was not. His friend was immediately placed upon witness stand and convicted the former witness. Going out of the court room the first witness remarked that he didn't care a damn for the fine and punishment, but after he had swore to a damn lie to clear his friend, that friend turned right round and convicted him. The Republican party is b.eaking up all over the country. The following is an extract from Senator Doolittle's published letter:

"That it is almost inconceivable that any Federal Administration should attempt to enforce universal negro suffrage in States where, for two hundred years, the negroes have been degraded by slavery, where, at the same time, nearly two thirds of the free States deny suffrage to persons of the same race, who have been educated as freemen, among freemen, with the thoughts, habits and responsibilities of freemen."
